LANTERN 1972-1973

LaSalle High School

South Bend, Indiana

SOME BOOKS ARE TO BE TASTED, OTHERS TO BE SWALLOWED, AND SOME FEW TO BE CHEWED AND DIGESTED.

—Francis Bacon.

You are walking down the hall after third hour. As you scan the faces of those around you do you immediately assume that the girl next to you is hastily swallowing her geometry homework? Do you see Jim by the drinking fountain and surmise he choked on his English Lit.? Or are you too busy swallowing your history assignment?

Knowledge is power. Francis Bacon said that some 300 years ago, yet man's accomplishments are proof of the validity of that simple statement.

The acquiring of knowledge—education—cannot be reduced to such concise phrasing. Much controversy surrounds education and ideas concerning the best type are varied. Obviously education should deal with the teaching of facts and philosophies, but shouldn't common sense enter into it, too? Thus it would seem the near-perfect education would be a harmonious blend of practical and factual learning.

Is this type of education possible?

Consider, if you will, Jack and Geraldine. Both are hypothetical students at LaSalle and they are discussing with their counselors their possible courses.

Jack is interested in many different fields and he feels having some exposure to them would help him narrow down his choice.

Architecture attracts him, so drafting and DE and ICT could be among his choices, yet he is also considering a teaching career. Cadet Teaching, a program for seniors to aid in schools throughout the city, would give him a practical preview of teaching. If he does not decide to teach, two English courses that would benefit in his college world are Essay Writing and the Research Paper and Focus on Language. Both are designed to improve and perfect the students expression of ideas in clean and concise writing. Engineering also interests Jack and the relatively new Project Physics would give a theoretical look at physics. Jack can now devise a program of study that will enable him to touch upon the ideas that interest him.

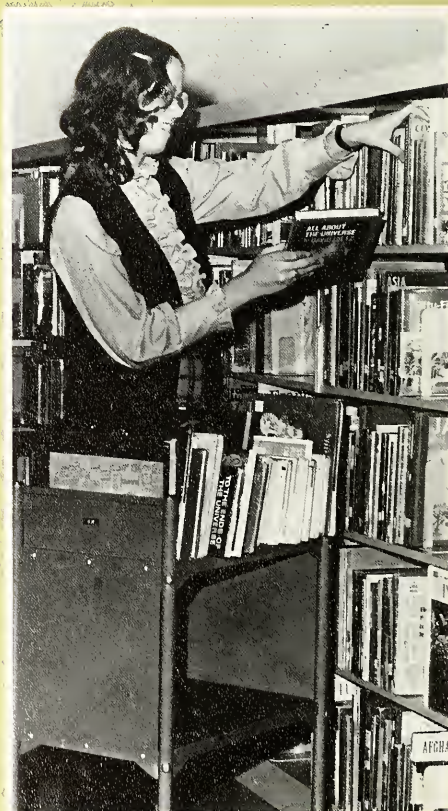

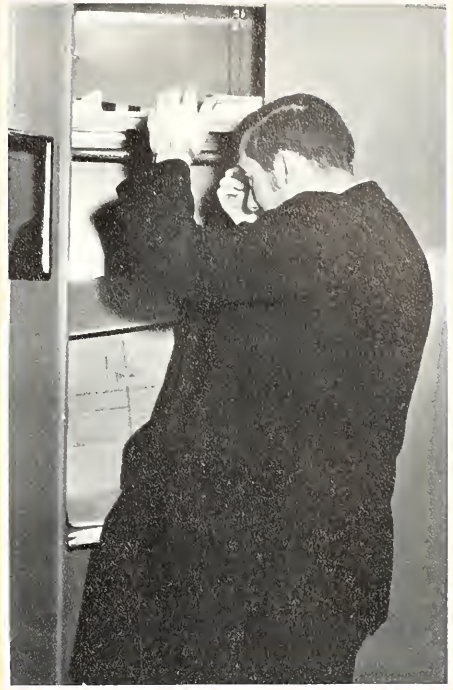

Geraldine is just as unsure as Jack in her choice of future occupation. Her involvement in the Fine Arts department has made her seriously consider a career in music. She is in the Concert Glee Club and the Orchestra (both are well known throughout the city) and is considering taking Harmony, a music theory class, and Music Appreciation. Though she is still only in Basic Art, Geraldine has hopes of progressing to painting and more advanced art courses. Geraldine can jump from Picasso to Politics in an English course dealing with comparison of different political systems or explore the world of communication through Modern Media. If she wishes, she can concentrate on one topic in sociology during her senior year in the Independent Study of the Social Sciences—the only study course of its type in the city.

Without the aid of a sincere and able teaching staff, Jack and Geraldine wouldn't be able to explore the educational possibilities at LaSalle. The most diversified curriculum and modern equipment are useless without a trained and dedicated staff of administrators, teachers, and counselors.

Both Jack and Geraldine could be part of the 53% of juniors and seniors who have jobs. If Jack cadet teaches, he will be one of the 15% who have school-affiliated jobs. The large number of students with part-time jobs indicates a lessening of full-time students. As would be expected, two-thirds of the seniors and one-third of the juniors leave school early—many before 2:00 pm.

It would seem that with this trend in decreasing full-time students, a cut in curriculum would be logical. Yet, LaSalle is increasing its course offerings every year to enable each student to benefit from the time spent in school, no matter how brief. In other words, LaSalle is adapting to the students, not the student to LaSalle. This is an important factor in the search for a near-perfect education—an education for the masses, an education for the individual.

Personnel Fill Specialty Needs

"[The educated man] has a gift which serves him in public, and supports him in retirement, without which good fortune is but vulgar, and with which failure and disappointment have a charm." John Henry Newman from The Educated Man.

Mr. Herschel Hawkins represents one of the educated men of whom Newman speaks in his essay. After forty-three years of teaching, thirty-nine of which have been South Bend, Mr. Hawkins has retired with the conclusion of the school year. Planning to move to Spencer, Indiana, Mr. Hawkins hopes to take advantage of time and enjoy his many hobbies. "I enjoyed teaching. Methods and kids have changed through the years and I have tried to change along with them."

The truly dedicated teacher recognizes his potential and strives to present interesting material to his classes. The devotion of a good teacher knows no boundaries: it reaches out to all students with concern. Not only is a teacher involved in his class work; he participates in departmental meetings, on administrative committees, and of course there is the annual faculty pep assembly.

The Puzzle Hour by Hour

Six-thirty a.m. No, it can't be. Dreading a walk to school on an empty stomach, you p-u-l-l yourself out of bed. Forcing down orange juice and oatmeal, you listen to the radio for school closings. But, no such luck of snow—a high of 50 is predicted.

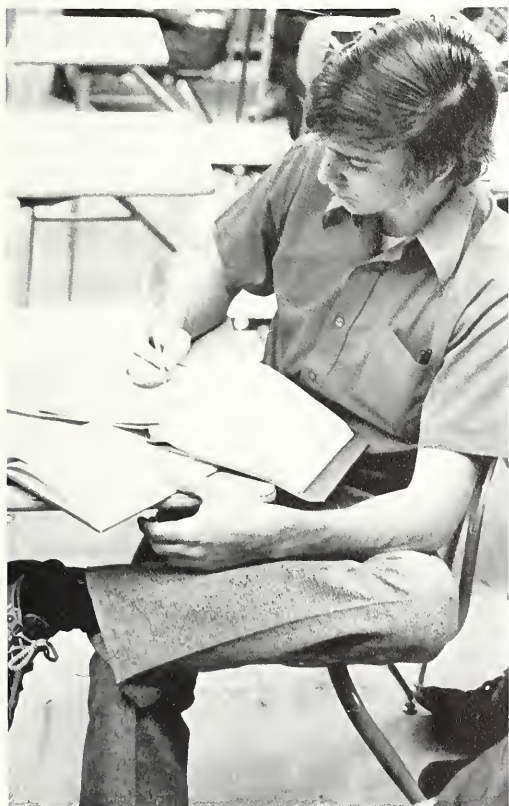

Twenty minutes and a crowded bus ride later you arrive at LaSalle.

First hour is spent yawning for the first few minutes as you adjust your eyes to the brightness. After awhile you accept the situation and decide to pay attention, or at least look like you are.

Right: A future Buddy Rich? Below right: Sophomoric intellectuals ponder Pythagorean proofs. Below: Concertmaster Sheryl Hight is instructed on the correct style of her solo in "Fiddler on the Roof".

By the time second hour arrives, you are completely awake. You feel the slight rumblings of hunger and hope no one else notices. You finish the hour with the knowledge that soon lunch will begin.

At last, your favorite class—your best grades, a time for stimulating discussion. No need to feign attention, the teacher has it. For many seniors it's the last class of the day. Soon, they'll be off, some to cadet teach, others for ICT and DE.

Fourth hour: for some, an early A lunch followed by a full and sleepy class—for others the intervention of B lunch that makes fourth hour almost non-existent. The C lunch student can hardly hear himself think over the stomach growls that remind him lunch is long overdue.

Fed and content, you proceed to fifth hour—conscious of the clock's minute hand and the fact that school will soon be over. But, in the meantime, you at Least stay awake—hopeful that you'll absorb some knowledge someway.

Finally, the day is over, at least for you. For many it goes on with rehearsals, projects, meetings, team practice, and jobs. You ride home content, hoping that maybe tomorrow morning won't come so fast.

Who knows, even though its a rainy day in May, it just might snow.

In evaluating the activities at LaSalle for North Central Association, teachers and visitors emphasized the variety of offerings. Certainly there is no reason a student cannot find an enjoyable activity; there are enough different types of clubs to satisfy everyone.

Unfortunately, many students find it difficult to join more than one club. Either they don't have enough time or the clubs they are interested in meet at the same time each club day.

Audio Visual, Ushers, and Booster Club are examples of service oriented activities which the respective clubs perform during the course of the day or at school-sponsored functions.

For instructive activities, clubs like the Science and Astronomy Club offer a chance for experimentation as well as demonstrations and field trips. The newly formed All-Sports Club deals with sports that are not present at school but nonetheless are popular. Skiing, boxing, and rare car driving are a few examples.

Black Culture Society and the International Club are two unique clubs in the city. Their main purpose is to bring unity and respect within and between cultures. During Brotherhood Week Student Government, BCS, and YFU members worked hard to present a week of activities which would review cultures around the world. BCS set up displays and presented a program. Student Government sponsored a Brotherhood Dance and the PTA held an Ethnic Festival where food and fellowship was the theme.

Clearly with the variety and quality of club offerings there should be no complaint about activities. Yet each year the same cry of apathy rings out. Is it because too many students hold jobs? Is it because Club Day eliminates the chance of joining more clubs? Are students aware of the fine programs offered?

Perhaps the fault lies with the student who is content to sit back and let others organize activities—and then complain that the same people receive all the honors. Whatever the answer is, a change in attitude is necessary if the varied activity program is to continue.

Mr. Hendricks receives a plaque "In Appreciation" from Student Government friends.

It's November, you're standing at attention on the field, ready to put all the little maneuvers you've been memorizing for the past week into action for the last time. As you wait for the Drum Major to five the signal, your mind reflects. "C'mon now underclassmen, get your bods movin', We don't have all day!" You've just committed the sin of all sins—you made a left face instead of a right and bumped into a big bad senior. It is misty and your hair is frizzy. When will it all end, you wonder. The next few hours are spent on the mucky, slimy football field. Good shoes are traded for tennis shoes and after three years of marching, these begin to look pretty tacky. But, it is a clear brisk night, perfect football weather. Tweet, tweet, tweet and the show has begun . . . for your last time.

Even cold weather doesn't keep band members from marching in the Thanksgiving Holiday Parade.

Pep Band—that great ensemble of brass and rhythm. What would a pep assembly be without “Red River Rock”? As one pep band member puts it, “At least I get a free season ticket to all the games.” That’s the right spirit. This year’s jazz band was characteristically sporadic. What stood in the way to fast success was the lack of rehearsal time. Nevertheless, the band showed their great talent at the Jazz Band Clinic at Washington High School in February where all the South Bend High Schools were represented. They also performed at Colfax School and added depth to the Concert Band’s annual spring concert on March 14.

“Boy Wanted” For 3 Eligible Girls

What can you say about three girls who attend an all girl academy? That they love life, laughter, and boys—not necessarily in that order. “Boy Wanted” is the frivolous story of the trials and tribulations of finding a date for the Senior Prom. Ed Beach as Harold had his share of troubles, among those finding a way to the North Pole with his friend Fred (Mike Bratton) and trying to keep the seat of his pants. Mr. Jerry Elton Stover ably directed the rest of the cast members: Melissa Gard as Nancy—studious and worrisome; Eileen Lake, the tomboyish Cynthia; and Nita Hollis as Adele, stricken by Cupid’s arrow for Rodney (Mike McCombs). Matters are not helped much by the presence of a well-meaning housemother (Cheryl Truex) and a strict principal (Jerome Johnson). The enjoyable evening was aided by the efforts of the remaining cast and crew.

Upper left: Jess Gubi, while unconscious is tossed about as the others are "helping" her.

Left center: Harold (Ed Beach), a horse thief, has oddly torn his pants and is looking for a hiding place.

Eileen Lake, as Cynthia, hopes that the right boy will soon come around for her. He does in the form of Mike Batton.

From the Drama Club comes all the theater activity at LHS. Among the projects directed by Mr. Jerry Stover were "Boy Wanted;" a Christmas play, "Adopted by Santa Claus," performed for a nursing home and hospital; and "The Marriage Proposal," a comedy featuring Dave Koloszar, Mary Jo Neely and Kerry Shead, which was prepared for a city-wide one-act play workshop.

Supports Casaday

In Finale

"Green Willow" in rehearsal. Top: Scott Miller as Amos and Craig Ashley as Gideon serenade with Clay High School lead Nancy Van Lew. Above: Mr. Stover and Mr. Casaday stop the music.

Members held parts in the all-city musical, "Green Willow," performed in March. Mr. James Lewis Casaday, long-time theater teacher in South Bend, coordinated the production, which was his last effort before retiring. Craig Ashley and Scott Miller commanded male leads, with support from about 20 other LaSalle dancers, singers and musicians.

Melissa Gard and Dave Koloszar played Emily and George in "Our Town," the spring drama. Other cast members were Kim Purucker, Sue Magley, Scott Miller and Julie Wilkins. Mr. Edward Nugent of the English Department played the stage manager. The play was different from recent productions in that it presented a deeper message: People do not fully appreciate life.

The Carpenters, Picasso, and Rod McKuen

The LaSalle Singers, in their fifth year, are a group of twenty four juniors and seniors who combine their talents to present musical concerts for the surrounding community. In order to become a member of this ensemble, each individual had to audition before Mr. John Vogel, the director. Practices are held mornings between seven and eight o'clock. A four piece combo accompanies the Singers.

Alternating between poetry, short story, and plays, members of the Creative Writing Club present their work to fellow writers for criticism and comment. "Keyhole of the Mind," an anthology of students writings, is published at least once a year.

Members of the Art Club devoted extra time to painting and constructing the sets for the city-wide performance of "Green Willow." Other projects included decorating fire hydrants to ready South Bend for the bicentennial celebration of the U.S.

Should the National Honor Society be designated as a service group or should the group just be an honorary society as the title says? This is the question which rises after each spring induction. As a step towards a more active society, rather than inducting the usual 7% of juniors and 3% of seniors every spring, there will now be an admittance of 12% of the junior class and no seniors will be inducted. Members sold flares and stationery to make money in 72-73 and a tutoring program at LaSalle was reestablished. Mr. Stephen Kosana is NHS sponsor.

Students interested in teaching as a future career make up the Future Teachers Club. The club, sponsored by Miss Christine Jankowski, sold booster pennants to supplement their treasury. One of their service projects included travelling to Sister Morita's Day Care Center in South Bend to throw a Valentine's Day party for some of the school's children. Some of the members cadet teach in their senior year as a preview of the profession.

Young Politicians

Experience Communication Difficulties

Many people inquire as to the function of Student Government, but few people realize the services provided by the members. Large cement "ashtrays" were set around entrances of the school for indulgers of the "wasting weed." An added mini ala-carte line served as one of the newer innovations. Student Government, composed of 10 senators and 20 representatives, is coordinated by Mr. Michael Sacchini, Wanda Rowlett, Chairwoman of the Senate, and Sue Magley, Speaker of the House, kept opposing views down to a subdued shout.

Black Culture Society, recognized as the only club of its kind in the city by the Notre Dame Cultural Arts Center, who gave a $50 donation, is one of the most active organizations at LaSalle. During Brotherhood Week, Feb. 11-17, the BCS decorated display cases with artifacts of African Culture. They also spent many hours rehearsing in preparation for an assembly and an evening program which was a "resounding success." Friday of Brotherhood Week was designated as African Dress-Up Day. The BCS also collected money to purchase food baskets for needy families during the holidays. The club collected money for flowers which were sent to sick students and to the family of a former classmate who had died. Members of the Society also gave blood for a fellow classmate who was seriously ill.

In a time when the idea of homecoming courts and queens is dying, LaSalle still hangs on to the tradition. As one of the responsibilities of the House of Representatives, Student Government handled all the formalities of the 1972 Football and 1973 Basketball Homecomings. They also sponsored a successful dance in coordination with the fall affair. Ten girls plus Jasna Hrelja and Jane Willa, foreign exchange students, made up the football court. The basketball court consisted of eleven different girls plus Mary Nassika, the third feminine foreign exchange student.

The Girls Sports Club includes seven different sports. Each has a captain sitting on an executive board to direct activities and to plan for the May awards banquet. The girls sell basketball programs to obtain money to buy awards for participation. Miss Betty Mathews, organizer of the club, sets the goals at "improving skills and pure fun." The programs offer the opportunity to get involved in any number of activities without the need for competition. The various groups participate in tournaments or put on demonstrations. The annual spring Water Ballet, this year entitled "Dreamland", is the most notable.

Intramurals Reveal Hidden Talents

For many students, the only way to participate in athletics is to join the intramural programs. Basketball and bowling teams are set up and competition is held after school and Saturdays. Such names as "The Crowd Pleasers" help to liven up the competition.

Hockey, A Sport But Not A Sport

Hockey: a sport but not a sport, as the headline reflects. Because of the South Bend Community School Corporation's policy concerning hockey, none of the high schools are able to use the school's name in accordance with the team. LaSalle Hockey became Lion Hockey and the Lions roared on the ice! Consisting of mostly sophomores and juniors, coach John Murray built an inexperienced team into a tough crew that ended the season with a 9-5-2 record. Stiff competition from such schools as Marian and Gary Andean provided the experience the team needed. The Lions finished third in league play.

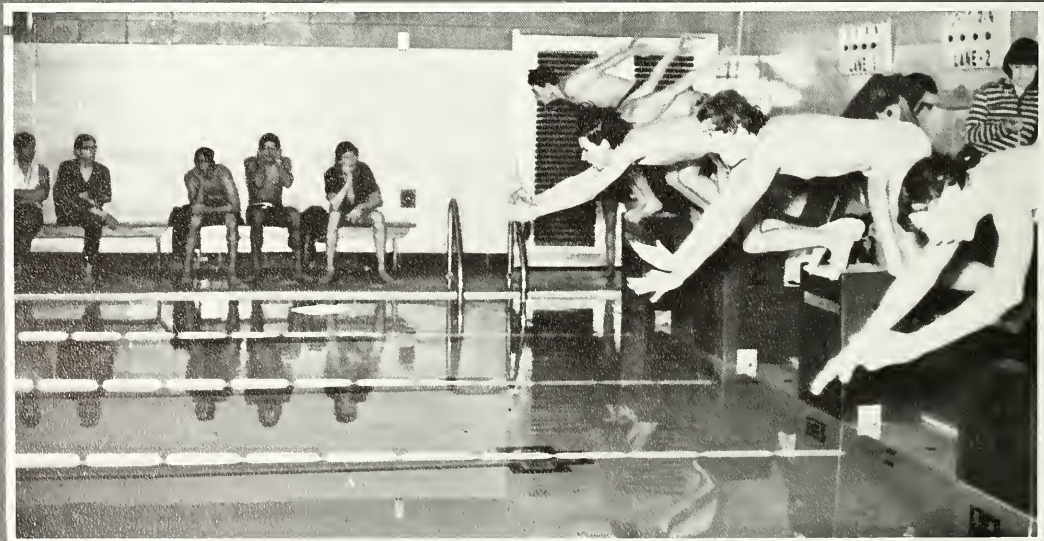

The past few years have seen a trend toward condemning athletics in high school. Arguments against the over-emphasis of sports propose that students measure their school not by the quality of education, but by the quantity of games their teams win.

Is this assumption justified? Many schools place stipulations on players with regard to their grades—they must be kept up. Athletics demand a strict physical discipline on players that leaves no time for "gloating-off." Certainly it would seem the athlete is, or should be, the model example of student life.

Consider a school without sports. Clearly there would be a drop in extra-curricular functions, but more importantly the unity of the school would be lessened. Students who might otherwise be unmotivated can use sports as an outlet for boredom and frustrations. In addition, sports teaches dedication and responsibility (sometimes to students who wouldn't normally take the opportunity to learn these characteristics.)

Obviously then, athletics is beneficial to both the player and the spectator. And with the growth of the little sport, these benefits are becoming more noticeable. Where once wrestling and swimming at LaSalle were considered insignificant, their support has grown to the stature of the more traditional football and basketball team. Now a student with prowess in track or tennis receives the recognition he might not have in earlier years.

The rise of the little sport has helped to solve the potentially controversial subject regarding girls and their role in athletics. The girls sports program has certainly grown with swimming and volleyball gaining varsity status.

When the courts reversed the IHSAA ruling concerning girls' nonparticipation with boys in sports, the decision threw coaches, team members, and educators into an uproar. Girls are now participating in non-contact sports such as swimming, golf, tennis, and track, and LaSalle has felt the effect of this decision with a few brave girls on the track team.

Pigskin Action!

As a season comes to a close sports fans everywhere cling to the memories left by the games.

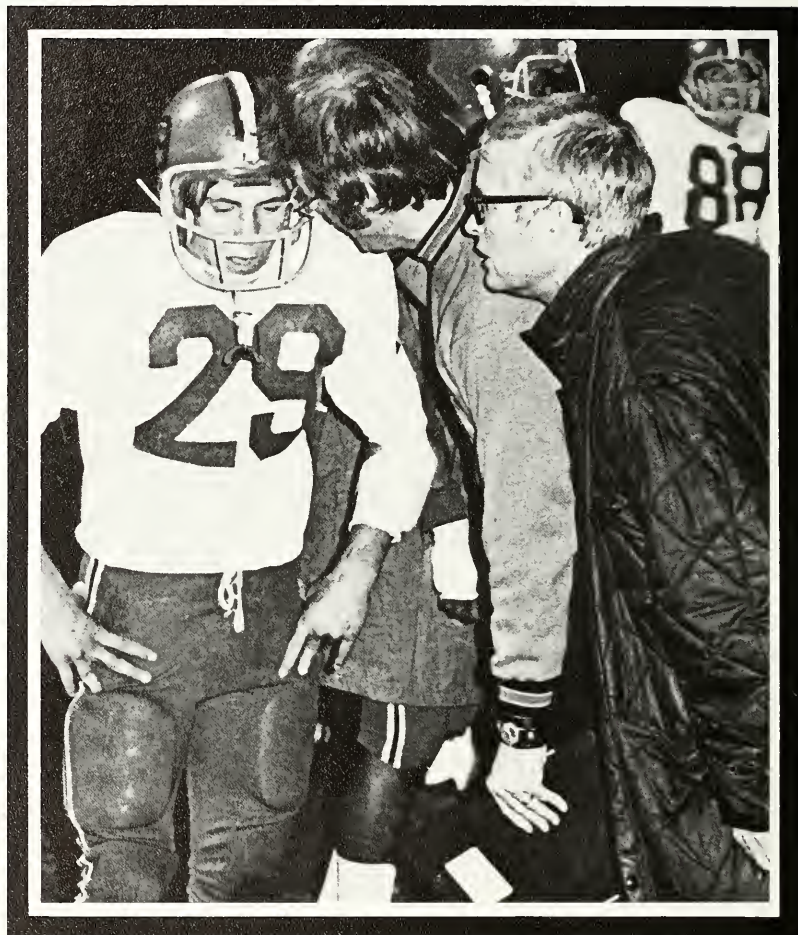

LaSalle's predominately young Football Team began the season in the Jamboree with an impressive showing as the Lions stunned Adams with a 14-7 victory. Despite defeats lying ahead, the Lions opened a regular season well against one of the state's toughest opponents. Facing a highly ranked Richmond team, known to shut out its victims, LaSalle was able to score. Although the Washington Panthers managed to slip by the Lions, LaSalle picked up the pace, racking up victories over Kokomo, Culver, Penn and Clay. This year's football performance gives promise for next year, which will proudly sport 18 returning lettermen, most of whom are juniors.

At the close of his season Ross Stephenson resigned from his post as head football coach and health teacher at LaSalle, as he was offered the job as coordinator for physical education for the South Bend Community School Corporation. We are in debt to Mr. Stephenson for all that he has accomplished at LaSalle not only with his football team but with his classes. As a kind, patient and hard working man he sets an example to which we can all pattern our lives. We extend our good luck wishes to Mr. Stephenson for his continued success.

X-Men Stomp Opposition

Sporting the best record among La-Salle's fall sports, the 1972 Cross Country Team maintained the steady winning tradition. Led by top runners Bob Bratton and Ken Hale, LaSalle pulled together a pleasing 8 and 2 record. Among the rivals left behind were city foes Adams and Riley, and Penn, defending conference champion. The thrilling meet with Mishawaka proved the stamina and poise of a solid team. Not only did the team give evidence of top runners, but also of depth. The meet was tied until our sixth man crossed the finish line to bring victory.

The pack begins to thin as the race progresses.

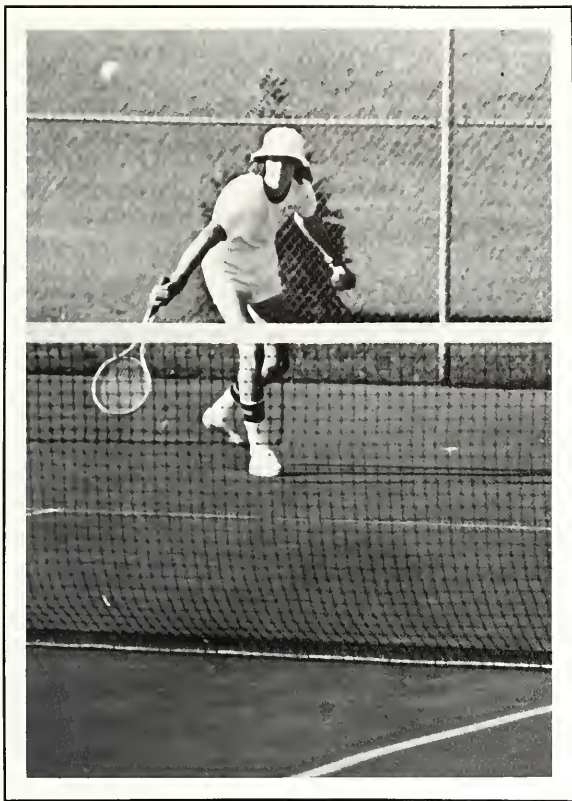

Tennis at LaSalle High School is no longer spoken of in whispers and accompanied by snickers because there is now pride in this sport at LHS. The 1972 Tennis season was vastly improved over last year's sad season. The respectable 4-5 record does not truly represent the ability of the team. The team overcame many obstacles through sheer determination and hard work. The team adjusted to a new coach, Mr. Robert Epley, as he also adjusted to the complications of being a first year coach. This year's was a young team experience-wise, which also contributed to the problems. Led by captain Jim Meyers, Most Valuable Player John Jankowski, who was also the Kiwanis Award Winner, and next year's captain Dave Patillo, the team put forth strenuous effort and in return were rewarded with the strength of a basically well-developed team. Big wins included matches with Washington, Penn. and Clay. With many problems solved next year's team can only improve.

This year's basketball team was one of disappointments and surprises. Certainly the defeat of Riley while it reigned as number one was a highlight of the season—as was the upsurge of talented juniors—Kruszewski, Lawrence, and Nailon.

Though the 14-8 win-loss record was not impressive, the games were often last minutes decisions. Under the leadership of Robert Warren, Jim Nowicki, and Gary Moore, the Lions survived fourth quarter comebacks by Washington and Mishawaka.

Unfortunately, Adams and St. Joe held up to win one and three point heartbreakers.

With the talent that is apparent in this year's juniors, Leo's Lions should be a strong area threat next year.

Grapplers Capture NIVC and Sectional

Senior wrestlers gather around Sectional and NIVC trophies. Kneeling are Delfino DeLeon, and Fred Houck. Standing are Bob Pinckert, Chris Glueckert, Jack Kosinski, and Larry Gooden.

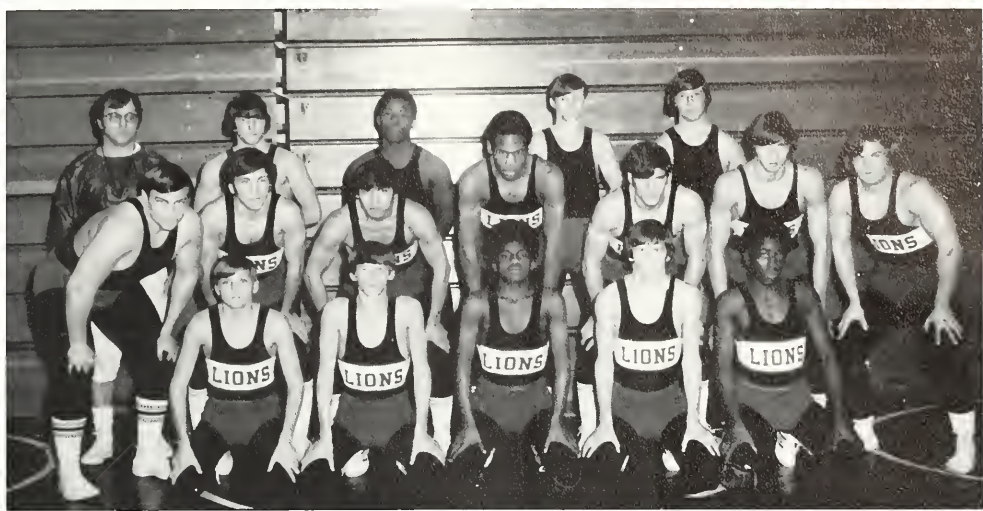

The 1972-73 Wrestling Team was the most successful sport at LaSalle. The team won the NIVC and Sectional titles for the second consecutive year, and placed second in the regional. The grapplers ended their dual meet season with an 8-2 record, losing only to powerful Riley and Niles High Schools. The team had a precarious start with wrestlers losing weight and a poor turnout of participants. But through the expert coaching and guidance of Mr. Vargo and his assistant Mr. Hamilton, the individuals fused into a team which formed a winning combination. The motto, which reflected the team's spirit, was "Never say die, say damn." This theory, coined by Mr. Vargo, expressed the dedication of every single wrestler on the team. They worked, sweating out practices, going on even though injured, and they became a tight group. With seven returning lettermen, next year's team will be as good, if not better than, this year's team. Of the seven, five placed in the 1972-73 Sectional and Mr. Vargo has high expectations for next year.

Pinckert Goes Down State

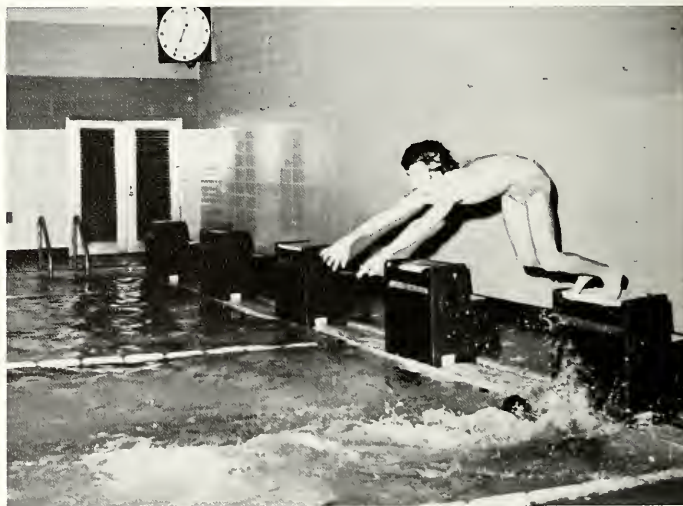

Bob Pinckert emerged as a near state champion in the 155 lb. weight class. As captain he led the team through conference and sectional victories. Voted Most Valuable Wrestler, Bob ended the year with a remarkable 25-1 record. Chris Glueckert received the Most Improved award, and the Kiwanis Award went to Chris Glueckert. Other victors in the sectional included Bob Bratton, 105 lbs., Chris Glueckert, 132 lbs., Larry Gooden, 145 lbs., and Jack Kosinski, 167 lbs.

The 1972-73 Boys Swimming Team sports the best over-all records since 1968. The swim team ended the dual meet season with 6 wins and 6 losses. Winning their first six meets fairly easily (except for a very close contest with Mishawaka), the tankers confidently traveled to Michigan City Rogers, expecting to chalk up another victory. Instead, the team lost because of the new IHSAA rule which permits girls to participate in non-contact sports. The girls on the Rogers team were exceptional swimmers as evident in the final outcome of the meet. The remaining season was disappointing due to stiff conference competition. Seniors included co-captains Tom "Duck" Staszewski, who was also named Most Valuable Swimmer with 130½ points, co-captain Chris Haber, Kiwanis Award Winner, and Bruce Waggoner. Returning lettermen are juniors Kim Purucker, Dave White, Steve Bowen, and soph. Fred Koehler. Placing fourth in the conference, Tom Staszewski won second place in the 100 yd. breaststroke and came in fifth in the 200 yd. individual medley. Kim Purucker was fourth in the 100 yd. freestyle and Fred Koehler, Most Improved Swimmer, placed sixth in the 100 yd. backstroke. Coach Eberhard has successfully built a team which is beginning to win. Each year the team improves and this year's team exerted spirit which helped to accomplish the goal of winning.

Baseball Season—Promising

Prospects of a successful baseball season were evident to coach Rzeszewski. A strong team of veteran players form the nucleus of the varsity team. Almost all of the first string players acquired letters last year. Although Coach Rzeszewski indicated some need for outfield strength, the infield had more than its share of talent. With four pitchers competing for the mound, the Lions should be able to prevent scoring by the opposing team.

One of the factors evident in the 1973 Golf Team is its youth. There are only two returning seniors, co-captains Jim Shaw, and Greg Thompson. Hopes were high that the team will repeat last year's performance and end distinctly lowering the team average. Coach Roberts and his team were looking forward to city and sectional competition.

Jim Shaw seems "teed off" at the freak March snowstorm.

Coach Tom Gavin emphasized that one of his main goals is developing a good B-team. Without one, LaSalle cannot expect a solid track team in upcoming seasons. Unfortunately, the 1973 season was hampered by the presence of only five veteran seniors. Returning lettermen Melvin Lawrence, Bob Pinckert, Marvin Stanley, and Ed White should prove to be the nucleus of the team. Four girls, Kari Stieglitz, Patty Nowicki, Chris Nafe, and Chris Lanz, took advantage of the new IH-SAA ruling and ran in practices. Coach Gavin comments that they should prove to be beneficial to the B-team.

Volleyball Spikes Out In IHSAA Premier

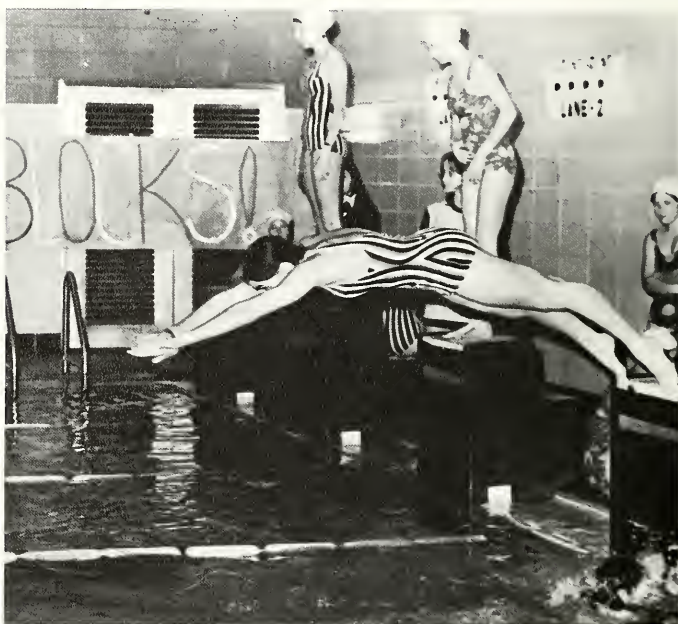

The 1972 LaSalle High School Volleyball Team ended with a disastrous win-loss record. This, however, is not a true indication of their season. For the first time volleyball has finally been recognized by the Indiana High School Athletic Association as a sport which has intra-school competition. This year the I.H.S.A.A. organized a state tournament in which our girls competed, and volleyball is no longer to be treated as just an extra-curricular club. The girls on the Volleyball Team sweated out the practices coached by Miss Betty Mathews and then put their skill to use in the matches. The South Bend League in which LaSalle has competed was exceptionally tough; St. Joseph High School won the State Tournament. The team captained by Barb Lakovits, was led by seniors Pat Burns, Cheryl Tobolski and Gwen Aldridge, and by juniors Jeni Maternowski, Pat Mazurkiewicz and Renee Taghon. The Team was much improved over last year's, especially in talent and skill. High spirit also prevailed on both B-team and Varsity which helped to compensate for an otherwise disappointing season. The B-team won several matches and is looking forward to a different season next year—perhaps a winning one. Returning lettermen include B-Team captain Monica Doyle, and Pat Mazurkiewicz.

Below: Miss Betty Mathews, coach of the Volleyball Team, leads the team in enthusiasm.

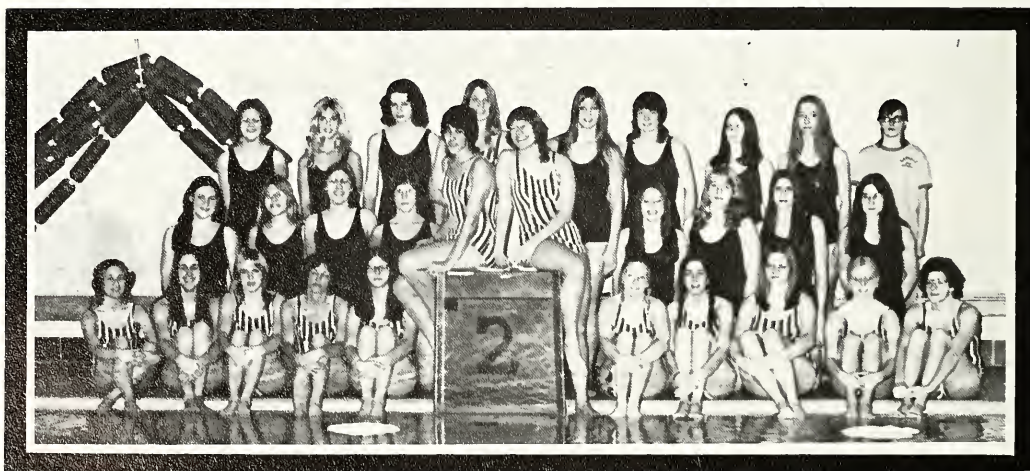

For the first time in 6 years, LaSalle's Sealions have had a winning season. Not only did they end up with a fine 6-3-1 record, but they placed 4th in both the City and Regionals and 11th in the State. There were eight girls who placed in the City. Nancy Walker was the only one to place first in the 100 and 50 yd. breast. Placing third were Georgann Walker, Nancy Walker, Becky Cerney, and Sue Nye in the medley relay. Marlene Sellers took a 4th in diving. Placing 6th were Cheri Chlebowska, Deb Pietrzak, Sue Nye, and Georgann Walker. After qualifying in the regionals, two members went on to place in the State. Nancy Walker placed first in two events and is now the holder of two state records. Marlene Sellers brought home a 5th in diving. Both girls are sophomores. Due to a strong and unified team effort the Sealions have grown in size, talent and spirit. They dominated most of their meets and boosted their point average to 60 points per meet. Coach Susan Dominiak looks forward to an even greater season next year with only four graduating seniors this year.

"Dave, it's time to get up." Nothing is quite as embarrassing as realizing you've sauntered into the wrong rest room. "Yeah, my folks took away my driver's license. Ya' see—this tree sorta ran into me . . ."

 "I got this real bargain on an elevator pass—only two dollars and fifty cents!"
 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1-yellow light goes out and so does everyone. "Dave, it's seven fifteen!" Let the sophomores yell—it beat 'em, beat 'em. "Did he ask you to the prom yet?" "Social Security
 #308-77-3449, locker 57, combination
 35-9-43, student identification
 #4857637 . . . I forgot my name!"
 "Where is room 403? Is it on the first or second floor? Someone told me that's where the Booster Club meeting is."
 . . . May we present the Senior Class of Nineteen Hundred and Seventy-Three . . . "Dave, your breakfast is getting cold!"

Let The Juniors Yell It Beat 'Em, Beat 'Em. "I got my class ring yesterday—I gave it to my girl last night—today she told me she lost it—tonight I'm gonna lose her!" SAT, CEEB, ACT, NMSQT, PSAT, SQ PCS, CSS, ETS, . . . AC (awfully confused). "Hey, turn on the overhead projector; the pep assembly has started!"

1973 is the last year the senior class will have spent four years at LaSalle. But Mr. Kosana, waiting until February to get a counselor's request slip is ridiculous! "Mom, it's quarter of eight—why didn't you wake me?" LET THE SENIORS YELL IT—BEAT BEAT 'EM, BEAT 'EM!!!

Every junior's mother has her child full of minimum daily requirements and flavored chewable vitamins. Our juniors need those vitamins to balance their half-time stops at the concession stand for popcorn and candy and their after-game trips to pizza parlors for socializing, friend-finding and more food. To wash down their gourmet delights, they settle for coke on the rocks—seems they're all out of vodka martinis. After making the rounds of the pizza places, our galloping gourmets proceed to parties to consume their stomachs' weight in excess pretzels. If our heroes haven't succumbed to acid indigestion by now, a package of breath mints bought to insure against handshakes will upset even the bravest.

Once upon a time, in the early fall to be exact, a strange phenomenon occurred at LaSalle—underclass picture-taking day. Out of nowhere appeared skirts and ties, once assumed buried in mothballs. Combs were in constant view as sophomores strived to perfect images soon to be frozen for a year on film. Glassyeyed students walked around practicing smiles in front of display cases and admiring friends. Girls prayed they wouldn't have to swim that day for the sake of their hair and mascara—neither being waterproof. English classes bubbled with impatience as sophomores listened for the call to release them from captivity. The moral of the story is, "Don't judge a sophomore by his cover."

Are you in need of a genuine back scratcher from Hong Kong? Do you desire the thrill of owning a Boa Constrictor imported from Africa? If so, you are fortunate that South Bend has many fine stores which carry the ordinary and also the unusual. LaSalle is located near community shopping areas which also offer a wide variety of services and which employ many students from LaSalle. The local places of business such as the Portage Ave. shopping area and Brentwood Shopping Center always back the Lions and help create a unity of school and community. Their support and service helps also to create a genuine rapport between the local businesses and the school. When our local stores do not carry an item which you need immediately, then the downtown South Bend department stores are sure to provide you with this inaccessible item. Perhaps it is that certain shade of ribbon or perhaps an Oriental rug that suits your needs. Whatever, South Bend has many quality stores which are always ready to greet you at the door with a smile.

MCDONALD'S

McDonald's Studio

For the best in wedding pictures, family photographs, special events, and even senior pictures, McDonald's is the studio in which to trust. Mr. R. F. Patnaude, master of photography, is the man to whom we trust our images when we have our senior pictures taken. In Mr. Patnaude's own words, there is "more fun" at McDonald's with pleasing results. McDonald's Studio is conveniently located on the corner of Michigan and Colfax Streets, right in the heart of bustling South Bend.

KREAMO BAKERY

The largest bakery in South Bend has been serving LaSalle and its great cafeteria since the school was built. Here is an example of what Kreamo's fresh baked bread will do to a skinny body. Jim Steinhof, has been eating Kreamo bread since he was in grade school. Kreamo is located at 1910 Lincoln Way West.

VAN HORNE & CO.

With today's generation, young men and women are demanding fine quality in rings and other pieces of jewelry. Van Horne's, which has one of the largest selections of jewelry in South Bend, has been picked by Kim Frank as her favorite jewelry store in which to browse. Van Horne's can be found at 114 W. Washington Ave.

DAIRY QUEEN

Kathy Klaybor and Connie Gruza meditate about that thick, rich, gooey hot fudge Brownie Delight they were going to order when Dairy Queen reopened in the spring. Too bad they had to wait! This neighborhood Dairy Queen is located at 1039 Lincoln Way West.

LUIGI'S PIZZA

MARTIN'S SUPERMARKET

Martin's

BEN FRANKLIN

Ben Franklin, at 3938 Lincoln Way West and 1347 Portage Ave., is a unique variety store which sells the hard-to-find items. The friendly disposition of the managers, the clerks, and the stock boys contribute to the pleasure of those who shop there. Another factor of the friendliness could be that both stores employ mostly LaSalle students.

BRENTWOOD and TUESLEY PHARMACIES

Brentwood and Tuesleys, under the same management, carry top name brands of cosmetics, health needs, and grooming aids as shown by Kathy Barber. Both pharmacies provide fast and reliable service in filling prescriptions. Tuesleys is located at 2324 Lincoln Way West and Brentwood is at 3928 Lincoln Way West.

One of the most valuable services to the community is that of Welsheimer's, which is located at 521 N. William St. Although this time is a sad but memorable experience for the family involved, the gentlemen at Welsheimer Funeral Home do their best to help comfort them.

WYGANT FLORAL CO.

Denise Stevens and Denise Kosinski leave Wygant Floral Shop, 327 Lincoln Way West, completely satisfied with the variety and beauty of Wygant's flowers. Not only does Wygant's sell floral arrangements, corsages, and potted plants, but it also serves as a gift shop to complement their flowers.

Peltz's, which sells musical instruments, also gives music lessons to those who want to better themselves in this expanding field. Peltz's is located at 416 W. LaSalle.

Paragon Press

Mr. George Kingsley, pictured here with Mrs. Mary Mathews, Lantern advisor, is the representative from Paragon Press. Paragon, a division of Herff Jones, located in Montgomery, Alabama, is the company which publishes the Lantern. As the Lantern staff worked diligently (and sometimes desperately) to prepare the book for print, Mr. Kingsley periodically came to LaSalle and devoted his time to see that the technicalities did not become overwhelming. The Lantern staff is very grateful to Mr. Kingsley for all the help he has given us this year. He has been representing Paragon at LaSalle for the past two years and before him his father was the representative. As most of the Lantern staff was seniors, we will miss Mr. Kingsley next year.

A Letter from the Editors

The past year has really been hectic for us. Through the frustrations which always accompany positions of responsibility we have done the best job that we could do.

First we would like to thank the student body for their overwhelming response to the subscription drive. With over 950 subscriptions, the best in the history of LaSalle, and about $1000 worth of advertising, we feel this book has the total support of the entire student body.

Many people don't realize all the strenuous work which goes into a yearbook. Being on the staff isn't all fun and games; in fact, we can't think of any times that ever were!

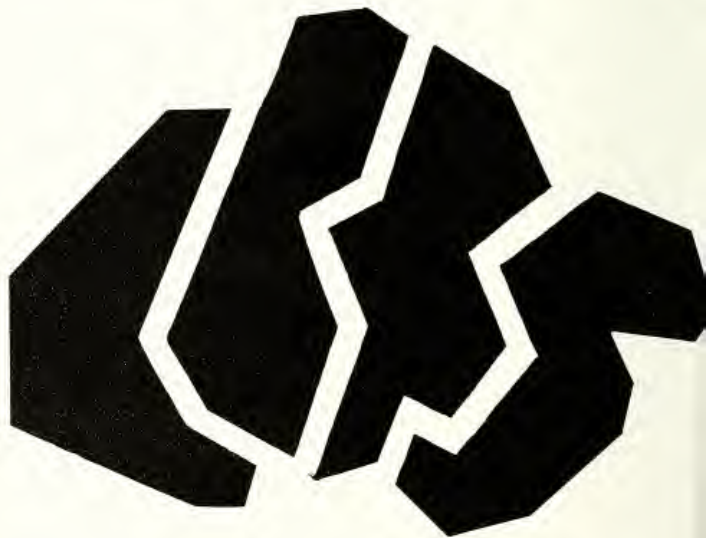

This yearbook is special to us because we have tried to say something. In most yearbooks the same people are always portrayed: the model student, the popular jock. This yearbook attempts to portray all types of students, from the person who makes the immediate transition into the working society to the college bound student. In the essays and the academic section this change is most predominant. We hope you will read the copy in this book because it was written for you.

Many problems arose this year, some dealing within the staff, others concerning money, and of course the never ending pain of meeting deadlines. Whenever you get a group of people together you end up with a select few that do all the work. This is true of any organization, even the Lantern staff.

It was difficult to keep from telling what was going into this book but secrecy is essential in order to have any element of surprise in a yearbook. We hope we have accomplished what we set out to do: put out an excellent yearbook.

Sincerely,

Jay Purucker
